

1 Dckt. 108.<sup>1</sup> The court summarizes the Motion to Dismiss as follows.

2 The U.S. Trustee asserts that the Debtor Herbert Miller has used multiple bankruptcy filings
3 in an effort to stave off foreclosures on properties by creditors. The U.S. Trustee goes all the way
4 back to 2009 and identifies twelve different bankruptcy cases that either Debtor Herbert Miller filed
5 (or was identified on the pleadings as filing) or that were filed for an entity related to Debtor Herbert 6 Miller. Of the twelve, ten of those cases were dismissed with no bankruptcy plan having been 7 confirmed. The properties that are the subject of this 2020 Case are not indicated in the related entity
8 cases, but are included in Debtor Herbert Miller’s three prior personal bankruptcy cases.

13 CASES ASSERTED TO BE RELATED TO DEBTOR HERBERT MILLER

14 The court now reviews the twelve bankruptcy cases identified by the U.S. Trustee and 15 reviews what appears from the dockets in those cases. First, the court summarizes the bankruptcy 16 cases filed by Debtor Herbert Miller himself.

18 Prior Cases

19 A. Herbert Miller - Chapter 7 Case 09-39991, E.D. Cal. Bankruptcy (2009 Case)

- 20 1. Case Filed.....September 17, 2009
  - 21 a. Debtor Herbert Miller represented by Gregory Flahive, Esq.
- 22 2. Discharge Entered.....March 10, 2010
- 23 3. Schedule A; 09-39991, Dckt. 30; lists the following real property owned by 24 Debtor as of the commencement of the 2009 bankruptcy case:
  - 25 a. 305 Hilton Drive, Applegate, CA (listed as an asset in the 2020 Case 26 now before the court)
  - 27 b. 19696 Shasta Street Lakehead, CA
  - 28 c. 11356 Alta Mesa E. Road, Wilton, CA (listed as an asset in the 2020 Case now before the court)

<sup>1</sup> This Motion was filed and set for hearing as provided in Local Bankruptcy Rule 9014-1(f)(1), with thirty-seven days notice provided. Sufficient Notice was provided. The final hearing on the Motion was conducted on October 15, 2020.

1 Debtor’s Chapter 7 case would appear to have been an uneventful proceeding, but for a pre-
2 petition judgment that was secured by a pre-petition judgment lien (recorded in the amount of 3 $43,479.00) that Debtor Herbert Miller had obtained but failed to disclose on his Chapter 7 4 bankruptcy schedules.

5 The Chapter 7 Trustee reopened Debtor’s 2009 Chapter 7 case in 2015 to administer the 6 undisclosed asset.<sup>2</sup>

7 B. Herbert Miller - Chapter 11 Case 13-23040, E.D. Cal. Bankruptcy (“2013
8 Case”)

- 9 1. Case Filed.....March 6, 2013
  - 10 a. Debtor in the 2013 Case represented by Gilbert E. Maines, Esq.
- 11 2. Case Dismissed.....December 2, 2015
  - 12 a. The case was dismissed based on a Motion filed by JPMorgan Chase 13 Bank, N.A. and CitiMortgage, Inc. 13-23040; Motion, Dckt. 135.
The court’s Order dismissing the case imposed the 11 U.S.C.
14 § 109(g) 180 day bar on filing another case. Id.; Order, Dckt. 148.
- 15 3. Amended Schedule A; Id., Dckt. 26; lists the following real property owned 16 by Debtor as of the commencement of the 2013 case:
  - 17 a. 305 Hilton Drive, Applegate, CA (listed as an asset in the 2020 Case 18 now before the court)
  - 19 b. 11356 Alta Mesa E. Road, Wilton, CA (listed as an asset in the 2020
20 Case now before the court)
- 21 4. Schedule I filed by Debtor states that his income as of the March 19, 2019
22 filing of the Chapter 11 case consisted of:
  - 23 a. $3,000.00 a month net income from property and $3,500.00 wages as the manager of Sharif Jewelers. Id.; Dckt. 1 at 24.
- 24 5. The Statement of Financial Affairs filed by Debtor states:

---

25 <sup>2</sup> No opposition was filed to the Chapter 7 Trustee’s 2016 Motion to approve the 26 settlement with the state court judgment debtors on the pre-petition judgment that was property
27 of the Chapter 7 estate. In administering that asset, the Chapter 7 Trustee recovered $25,373.11
28 for the Chapter 7 bankruptcy estate. This was seventy-one percent (71%) of the total net proceeds from the sale of the property encumbered by the judgment lien that was property of the bankruptcy estate. Id.; Motion and Order, Dckts. 69, 76.

- 1                   a.       $8,000.00 gross income in 2013,
- 2                   b.       $24,000.00 income in 2012, and
- 3                   c.       $32,500.00 in 2011. Id. at 28.
- 4                   6.       Debtor filed a Motion to Vacate the dismissal of the 2013 Case. The court
- 5                         denied the requested relief, making detailed findings. Id.; Civil Minutes,
- Dckt. 169.

6           C.   Herbert Miller - Chapter 13 Case 18-26373, E.D. Cal. Bankruptcy (“2018

7           Case”)

- 8                   1.       Case Filed.....October 9, 2018
- 9                         a.       Debtor in the 2018 Case filed the Chapter 13 case in pro se.
- 10                   2.       Case Dismissed.....November 7, 2018
- 11                         a.       Case was dismissed due to Debtor failing to timely file the required
- 12                                 documents of a debtor on the commencement of a bankruptcy case
- (the time having been extended by the court). 18-26373; Order
- Dismissing, Dckt. 23.
- 13                   3.       Schedule A; Id., Dckt. 13; lists the following real property owned by Debtor
- 14                         as of the commencement of the 2013 case:
- 15                         a.       11155 Shadow Ct, Auburn, CA (listed as an asset in the 2020 Case
- now before the court)
- 16                         b.       18414 North East 391st Street, Amboy, WA
- 17                   4.       Amended Schedule I filed by Debtor states that his income as of the
- 18                         March 19, 2019 filing of the Chapter 11 case consisted of:
- 19                         a.       $1,500.00 a month net income from operation of his business and
- property. Id.; Dckt. 56 at 30-31.
- 20                   5.       The Amended Statement of Financial Affairs filed by Debtor states:
- 21                         a.       $4,500.00 income in 2018,
- 22                         b.       $17,500.00 income in 2017, and
- 23                         c.       $17,500.00 in 2016. Id., Dckt. 58 at 2.
- 24                   6.       Motion to Vacate Dismissal and Motion to Convert Case
- 25                         a.       On January 9, 2020, Judson Henry, Esq. (Debtor’s attorney in the
- 26                                 2020 Case) appeared in the 2018 Case for Debtor, filing a Motion to
- Vacate the Dismissal. Id.; Motion, Dckt. 30.
- 27                                 (1)     The court denied the Motion to Vacate the Dismissal. Id.;
- 28   Civil Minutes, Dckt. 59.

1                   b.       On February 28, 2020, Judson Henry, Esq. filed a Motion to Convert
 2                   the case from one under Chapter 13 to Chapter 11. Id.; Motion,
 3                   Dckt. 47. Debtor sought the conversion rather than commencing a 4                   new case, having subsequently (presumably with the assistance of 5                   counsel) recognized that Debtor Herbert Miller’s debts exceeded the 6                   limits imposed by 11 U.S.C. § 109(e).

7                               (1)       The court denied the Motion to Convert the case, making 8                               detailed findings in the Civil Minutes. Id., Dckt. 60.

9                   D.       Herbert Miller - Chapter 11 Case 19-23392, E.D. Cal Bankruptcy (“2019 Case”)

10                   1.       Filed.....May 29, 2019

11                               a.       Debtor in the 2019 Case represented by Allen Hassan, Esq.

12                   2.       Dismissed.....July 15, 2019

13                               a.       The case was dismissed pursuant to an Order to Show Cause due to 14                               Debtor’s failure to pay the $1,717.00 filing fee. 19-23392; OSC, 15                               Order, Dckts. 20, 35.

16                   3.       Amended Schedule A; Id., Dckt. 26; lists the following real property owned
 17                   by Debtor as of the commencement of the 2019 case:

18                               a.       3252 Rayall Court, Loomis, CA

19                               b.       18414 NE 391st Street, Amboy, WA

20                   4.       Schedule I filed by Debtor states that his income as of the May 29, 2019
 21                   filing of the Chapter 11 case consisted of:

22                               a.       $1,500.00 a month net income from operation of his business and 23                               property. Id.; Dckt. 21.

24                   5.       The Statement of Financial Affairs filed by Debtor states:

25                               a.       There was no income for Debtor in the first five months of 2019 (the 26                               fields left blank),

27                               b.       $4,500.00 income in 2018, and 28                               c.       $17,500.00 income in 2017. Id.; Dckt. 21 at 39.

                  The U.S. Trustee then directs the court to eight other bankruptcy cases which are stated to be related to Debtor Herbert Miller. At oral argument, Counsel for Debtor Herbert Miller asserted that for some of these, they were filed by others in the business and not something that Debtor Herbert Miller was aware of.

b. Principal Place of Business stated to be 1115 Shadow Court, Auburn, California (which is Debtor Herbert Miller’s stated residence). 18-20298; Petition, Dckt. 1 at 1.

c. The signature on the Petition is a handwritten “Herb Miller,” “Pro Se.”

2. Debtor Herbert Miller does not state having any interest on his Schedules filed in the current case in an entity known as Hillside Holdings, Inc. (Dckts. 22, 79).

3. Dismissed.....January 31, 2018

a. The court issued an Order to Show Cause why the case should not be dismissed due to the corporate debtor not being legally able to file a bankruptcy in pro se, and issued an order dismissing the case pursuant thereto. Id.; OSC and Order, Dckts. 7, 18.

b. Dismissal as a bad faith filing. The court’s ruling on the Motion to Dismiss is stated in an audio recording that is included on the Docket. No transcript of the hearing has been prepared. Id.; Dckt. 16. On the recording a person appears and engages in a discussion with the judge:

(1) The person identifies himself as “Herb Miller.”

(2) “Herb Miller” advises the court that a law firm has been engaged but no attorney has been assigned to that debtor.

(3) “Herb Miller” advises the court that there is one creditor, and the sole asset listed on the schedules was owned by two elderly persons, the property was transferred into Hillside Holdings, Inc., and the two elderly people remain in possession of the property.

(4) “Herb Miller” is heard to say that the argument is that “they” dispute that Wells Fargo has any interest in the property that has been transferred into Hillside Holdings, Inc.

(5) The bankruptcy judge expressly states that he does not find the bankruptcy case filed for Hillside Holding, Inc. to have been filed in good faith.<sup>4</sup> ENDNOTE 1.

4. With respect to Debtor Herbert Miller in this case having notice of the bankruptcy case for Hillside Holding, Inc., various documents were served on Hillside Holdings, Inc., 1115 Shadow Court, Auburn, California (the residence of Debtor Herbert Miller in the case now before this court) by the Bankruptcy Noticing Center or the Court. See, for example, Id., Dckts. 8, 9, 13, 19, 20, 21.

b. Principal Place of Business stated to be 1115 Shadow Court, Auburn, California (which is Debtor Herbert Miller’s stated residence). Nev. 18-13264; Petition, Dckt. 1 at 1.

c. The signature on the Petition is a typewritten “Herb H.E. Miller.”

d. A Board Resolution for the filing of the bankruptcy case. It is signed by a “Jon Lee as Power of Attorney for Herb E. Miller, Chief Executive Officer of M.D. & A. Holding Company.” Id.; Dckt. 15.

2. Debtor Herbert Miller does not state having any interest in M.D. & A. Holding Company, Inc. on his Schedules filed in the current case (Dckts. 22, 79).

3. Dismissed.....October 11, 2018

<sup>4</sup> In his Declaration, Debtor Herbert Miller testifies that with respect to the Hillside Holdings, Inc. bankruptcy case, “he may have” (apparently filed the Hillside bankruptcy case). Declaration, ¶6, p. 2:25; Dckt. 127. Debtor Herbert Miller states that, as he recalls, the Hillside Holdings, Inc. bankruptcy case would have been filed to reorganize a condominium project in Las Vegas, Nevada. Id. He believes that the case filed in California would have been quickly dismissed and the case refiled in Nevada. Id.

In End Note 1 to this Decision, the court reviews information from its files, PACER information from the District of Nevada that no bankruptcy case was filed for such entity in that District, and information about “Hillside Holdings, Inc.” from the California Secretary of State website. This information about Hillside Holdings, Inc. from the Secretary of State website has not been introduced as evidence for this matter and is not used by the court in rendering this decision.

However, it is information that the U.S. Trustee or Department of Justice may want to review in light of Debtor Herbert Miller stating that bankruptcy cases are being filed using his name without his knowledge or authorization, and it may be that the name “Hillside Holdings, Inc.” was used to file a bankruptcy case for an entity that does not exist.

1 a. The court issued the order dismissing the case pursuant to a Motion
2 to Dismiss filed by M.D. & A. Holding Company, Inc., the 3 bankruptcy debtor in the Nevada case. Id.; Motion, Order, Dckts. 17, 4 21.

5 4. With respect to Debtor Herbert Miller in this case having notice of the 6 bankruptcy case for M.D. & A. Holding Company, Inc. in the Nevada
7 Bankruptcy Court, various documents were served on M.D. & A. Holding 8 Company, Inc., at 1115 Shadow Court, Auburn, California (the residence of 9 Debtor Herbert Miller in the case now before this court) by the Bankruptcy
10 Noticing Center. See, for example, Id., Dckts. 7, 8, 23.

11 With the exception of listing Debtor Herbert Miller's residence as the business location for 12 these various asserted related entities, it appears that the various entities were mostly single asset
13 entities that did not state having any interest in the properties that Debtor Herbert Miller lists on the 14 Schedules in this 2020 Case.

15 Additionally, Debtor Herbert Miller testifies that he was unaware of some of these 16 bankruptcy cases being filed for entities that he owned or in which he has an interest. Declaration, 17 Dckt. 127.

18 U.S. TRUSTEE ASSERTION THAT DEBTOR HERBERT MILLER
19 FAILED TO DISCLOSE ALL HIS ASSETS ON THE SCHEDULES

20 The U.S. Trustee asserts that Debtor Herbert Miller has not disclosed his interests in Hillside 21 Holdings, Inc. or M.D. & A. Holding Company Inc. on his Amended Schedules and Statement of 22 Financial Affairs in this case. The U.S. Trustee challenges Debtor Herbert Miller not stating an 23 interest in Finley and Diamond, Inc., of which he is listed as an officer and director.

24 The U.S. Trustee challenges Debtor Herbert Miller's now listed on Amended Schedule I
25 (Dckt. 37, filed on May 5, 2020) monthly income of $8,500.00, where Debtor Herbert Miller states
26 on the Statement of Financial Affairs that his income for the entire 2019 year was only $14,000.00.

27 The U.S. Trustee states Debtor Herbert Miller failed to accurately disclose income or 28 expenses, implicating bad faith acting. See In re Cortez, 349 B.R. 608, 614-15 (Bankr. N.D. Cal.
2006). Debtor Herbert Miller stated he owned three real properties on his Amended Schedule A/B.
He also stated on his Amended Schedule J that he pays insurance on these properties. However, at the Meeting of Creditors, Debtor Herbert Miller admitted that they were each foreclosed in 2018 and he does not have insurance on the properties.

1 The U.S. Trustee argues that at the Meeting of Creditors, Debtor Herbert Miller testified that 2 the real estate business was premised upon locating distressed properties and attempting to obtain 3 concessions from the mortgage holders, by challenging the validity of the related deeds of trust and 4 assignments. Further, that Debtor Herbert Miller “admitted” that Debtor Herbert Miller’s business
 5 entities filed for bankruptcy merely for the purpose of “get[ting] them on their automatic stay for that 6 the banks would have to prove how they became a creditor or got it and what they paid for it.”

7 The U.S. Trustee filed the Declaration of Carla K. Cordero, U.S. Trustee’s Bankruptcy
 8 Auditor/Analyst, to provide testimony to properly authenticate the various exhibits presented by the 9 U.S. Trustee in support of the factual grounds asserted. Declaration, Dckt. 110.

10 On May 6, 2020, Debtor Herbert Miller filed Amended Schedule A/B in which he disclosed
 11 a number of corporations and limited liability companies in which he had an interest. Most of these 12 entities had not been disclosed not only on the original schedules filed under penalty of perjury in 13 this 2020 Case, but in the Schedules filed under penalty of perjury by Debtor Herbert Miller in his 14 prior bankruptcy cases.

15 The entities listed on the Amended Schedule A/B filed on May 6, 2020, Dckt. 79, by Debtor
 16 Herbert Miller are the following:

Entity	% of Ownership	Value	Whether Disclosed Prior to 2020 Amended Schedules (Dckt. 79)

18
19 In the proposed Disclosure Statement, Debtor Herbert Miller states that all of his entities are 20 now “defunct” and have “no prospects for future productive business activity.” Disc. Stmt.,
21 p. 17:23-26; Dckt. 186.

22 However, included at the end of the Amended Statement of Financial Affairs, Debtor Herbert
23 Miller states under penalty of perjury that many of the above businesses continue to exist. Dckt. 79
24 at 49, 52-57.

25 Not included on Amended Schedule A/B in the 2020 Case is another entity listed on 26 Schedule A/B under penalty of perjury in Debtor Herbert Miller’s 2019 case – 203 Gunston, LLC.
27 19-23392; Dckt. 21. The name of this entity is the same as the number and street name given for 28 Acres Imperial, LLC entity which Debtor Herbert Miller discloses in his 2020 case schedules.

OPPOSITION OF DEBTOR HERBERT MILLER

2 On August 20, 2020, Debtor Herbert Miller filed an Opposition that is supported by two 3 Declarations. Dckts. 126, 127, 128. The Opposition begins with the assertion that the U.S. Trustee
4 states no grounds for which any possible relief could be based. Debtor Herbert Miller then asserts
5 that all of the law cited by the U.S. Trustee was inapplicable to this Chapter 11 case as they only 6 relate to Chapter 13 cases. The court summarizes some of the further points made in opposition.

7 Debtor Herbert Miller asserts that the Motion was not properly served, though Debtor Herbert
8 Miller has filed an extensive opposition. The Opposition having been filed and the issues thoroughly 9 briefed and argued, service is proper. Further, that the U.S. Trustee has not articulated the “legal 10 standard” by which the court will properly apply the law.

11 Debtor Herbert Miller then accuses the U.S. Trustee of articulating “a very distorted 12 narrative of the actual facts,” and further that the U.S. Trustee has engaged in outright falsity.

13 Debtor Herbert Miller disputes that he is a “serial filer,” has good faith reasons for the cases 14 filed, and really has had only two cases in the past ten years.

15 Debtor Herbert Miller asserts that the various alleged “related entity” cases were filed by 16 other persons, improperly using Debtor Herbert Miller’s name.

17 With respect to his income, it is argued that COVID-19 causes the inconsistency in dollar 18 amounts. The “reasonableness” of the expenses challenged by the U.S. Trustee are also asserted to 19 be “COVID-19” reasonable.

20 In looking back through the prior four bankruptcy cases, it appears that Debtor Herbert Miller
21 has had ongoing, multi-year serious income challenges. The actual income information being stated 22 on the Schedule I and prior two year pre-petition income the Statement of Financial Affairs for the 23 2020 Case, 2019 Case, 2018 Case, and the 2013 Case reaching back nine years prior to the filing of 24 the 2020 Case, is:

25 ///
26 ///
27 ///
28 ///

Case	Schedule I Income	Case Pre-Petition Year to Date and two Prior Years Gross Income
2013 Case Chapter 11 13-23040	$3,000.00 a month net income from property and $3,500.00 wages as the manager of Sharif Jewelers. 13-23040; Dckt. 1 at 24.	$8,000.00 gross income in 2013, $24,000.00 income in 2012, and $32,500.00 in 2011. Id. at 28.
2018 Case Chapter 13 18-26373	$1,500.00 a month net income from operation of his business and property. 18-26373; Dckt. 56 at 30-31.	$4,500.00 income in 2018 $17,500.00 income in 2017, and $17,500.00 in 2016. Id. , Dckt. 58 at 2.
2019 Case Chapter 11 19-23392	$1,500.00 a month net income from operation of his business and property. Id. ; Dckt. 21.	No income for Debtor in the first five months of 2019 (the fields left blank), $4,500.00 income in 2018, and $17,500.00 income in 2017. Id. ; Dckt. 21 at 39.

The 2013, 2018, and 2019 Case information well predate the COVID-19 disruption in the economy in the Spring of 2020.

With respect to the alleged “bad faith,” Debtor Herbert Miller steps up and asserts that the U.S. Trustee is acting in bad faith, making false allegations, and attempting to “manufacture the appearance of what would be a serious failure to disclose.”

Debtor Herbert Miller provides his Declaration in opposition to the Motion. Dckt. 127. He testifies that he did not cause the Moreno Real Estate, LLC case to be filed in the Eastern District of California; and did not cause the Acres Imperial, LLC cases filed in the Eastern District of California. Debtor Herbert Miller speculates that a now disbarred attorney may be behind the filing of the Acres Imperial, LLC cases.

He also denies being involved in the M. D. & A. Holding Company, Inc. bankruptcy case,

1 noting that the purported typed signature misspells his name (adding an additional middle initial).

2 Debtor Herbert Miller testifies that at the time of the initial status conference, “I genuinely 3 believed property insurance had been placed on the three properties involved in my case,” but it was 4 only later that he learned that such insurance could not be issued based on Debtor Herbert Miller’s
5 claims of ownership based on his assertions that the foreclosure deeds were void.

6 DISCUSSION

7 The Bankruptcy Code provision at issue is 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), which is the statutory 8 foundation for the court addressing whether a Chapter 11 case should be dismissed or converted.

9 (b)

10 (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) and subsection (c), on request of a party in 11 interest, and after notice and a hearing, the court shall convert a case under this 12 chapter to a case under chapter 7 or dismiss a case under this chapter, whichever is 13 in the best interests of creditors and the estate, for cause unless the court determines 14 that the appointment under section 1104(a) of a trustee or an examiner is in the best 15 interests of creditors and the estate.

16 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b) (emphasis added). Parsing this language, when cause is shown the court shall 17 (not may or might) convert or dismiss the case, or appoint a Chapter 11 trustee. Further, when the 18 court finds that cause exists for relief pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b) to dismiss, convert, or appoint 19 a trustee, the court considers the interests of creditors and the estate (which includes a debtor’s right 20 to surplus moneys after payment of creditor claims).

21 Congress provides in 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(4) a non-exclusive list of examples of what can 22 constitute cause for purposes of 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1). These items relate to the ability and actual 23 efforts to prosecute a reorganization under Chapter 11 and comply with the Bankruptcy Code and 24 orders of the court.

25 Questions of conversion or dismissal must be dealt with a thorough, two-step analysis:
26 “[f]irst, it must be determined that there is ‘cause’ to act[;] [s]econd, once a determination of ‘cause’
27 has been made, a choice must be made between conversion and dismissal based on the ‘best interests 28 of the creditors and the estate.’” Nelson v. Meyer (In re Nelson), 343 B.R. 671, 675 (B.A.P. 9th Cir.
2006) (citing Ho v. Dowell (In re Ho), 274 B.R. 867, 877 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2002)).

29 Debtor Herbert Miller asserts that the U.S. Trustee’s citation of cases, including the Ninth 30 Circuit Court of Appeal Decision in In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 12119, 1224 (9th Cir. 1999), cannot be

1 considered on the issue of “bad faith” because they are considering bad faith in a Chapter 13 case.
2 Thus, Debtor Herbert Miller contends that the Motion to Dismiss must fail for the failure to provide 3 the court with applicable legal authority.

4 The court disagrees. While not a binding decision on a discrete point of law, decisions of 5 the Ninth Circuit on bad faith are relevant in considering the law. There is not a “bad faith, you can 6 get away with in Chapter 11,” indulgence granted Chapter 11 debtors, individually and serving as 7 debtors in possession with fiduciary duties (exercising the powers and having the obligations of a 8 bankruptcy trustee in administering property of the estate).<sup>5</sup> The court addresses these issues in the 9 context of a Chapter 11 case below.

10 Opposition Based On Court Having 11 Determined Good Faith in Extending the 12 Automatic Stay as to Debtor Herbert Miller Personally

13 Before proceeding, the court addresses Debtor Herbert Miller’s contention that his prior 14 bankruptcy filings and the asserted related cases have already been addressed by this court and 15 cannot properly be considered now. Opposition, p. 6:1-10; Dckt. 126. Such is not the case, with 16 Debtor Herbert Miller overstating what was presented to the court and the scope of a ruling to extend 17 the automatic stay as to a debtor personally as provided in 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(B).

18 As the court addressed in its ruling on the Motion to Extend the Stay, termination of the 19 automatic stay pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(A) due to there having been a prior bankruptcy case
20 pending and dismissed within a year of the 2020 Case is a termination of the automatic stay only as 21 to the debtor personally, not as to property of the bankruptcy estate. Civil Minutes, p. 2, third full 22 paragraph; Dckt. 30.

23 When the case was filed and the Motion to Extend the Stay as to the debtor was filed, Debtor 24 Herbert Miller was prosecuting this case in pro se. Motion, Dckt. 10. A review of the Motion and

---

25 <sup>5</sup> As discussed in 7 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶1108.04:

26 Chapter 11 trustees and officers and directors of a debtor in possession are 27 similarly bound by a duty of care. In a case in which no trustee has been 28 appointed, "the trustee's fiduciary obligations also fall upon the officers and managing employees who conduct the debtor in possession's affairs."

1 Debtor Herbert Miller's Declaration clearly shows that Debtor Herbert Miller blamed the dismissal
2 of his prior case due to incompetent counsel. Motion, p. 3:4-7, 23-27, Dckt. 10; Declaration, p. 2:3-3 18; Dckt. 12. In the Civil Minutes, the court addresses some issues concerning the information in 4 the Schedules, including the failure to list the Internal Revenue Service as a creditor. Civil Minutes,
5 p. 4; Dckt. 30.

6 The only matters presented to the court was that there was a prior case and Debtor Herbert 7 Miller blamed his former counsel in the one prior case.

8 In extending the stay as to Debtor Herbert Miller personally (11 U.S.C. § 362(c)(3)(A) not 9 terminating it as to the bankruptcy estate and all property of the bankruptcy estate), the key factor
10 in extending the stay was that Debtor Herbert Miller's current counsel appeared at the hearing and 11 reported he was substituting in:

12 At the January 30, 2020 hearing, Debtor in Possession appeared with counsel
13 who was substituting into this case. Some of the above shortcomings were addressed 14 and Supplemental Schedules I and J shall be filed.

15 Debtor has sufficiently demonstrated the case was filed in good faith/rebutted 16 the presumption of bad faith under the facts of this case and the prior case for the 17 court to extend the automatic stay.

18 Id. at 5. The court did not determine that Debtor Herbert Miller had filed this case in good faith, was 19 prosecuting in it good faith, that he could reorganize under Chapter 11 in good faith, or that cause 20 did not exist to dismiss the case. Rather, merely that the "presumption of bad faith" for purposes of 21 the automatic stay terminating only as to Debtor Herbert Miller personally due to one prior case 22 having been dismissed had been sufficiently rebutted.

23 REVIEW OF PROPOSED DISCLOSURE STATEMENT AND 24 CHAPTER 11 PLAN FILED BY DEBTOR HERBERT MILLER

25 The court begins with the proposed Disclosure Statement (Dckt. 186) filed by Debtor Herbert
26 Miller to provide accurate, truthful, adequate information, so that creditors can make an informed 27 decision of whether to vote for or against a proposed Chapter 11 Plan.<sup>6</sup> 11 U.S.C. § 1125. The

---

28 <sup>6</sup> The court makes an extensive review of the proposed Disclosure Statement and Plan because the present motion before the court is turning on whether Debtor Herbert Miller has filed this case to prosecute a good faith reorganization, or whether the "plan" is to use the bankruptcy

1 proposed Disclosure Statement was signed by Debtor Herbert Miller on October 13, 2020. Dckt. 186
2 at 30. The information included in the proposed Disclosure Statement includes:

3 Herbert Edward Miller, Debtor-in-Possession, is a self-employed individual who 4 conducts all of his business activities as a sole proprietor. Debtor Herbert Miller currently has no employees.

5 Id., p. 7:13-15.<sup>7</sup>

6 The proposed Disclosure Statement continues in describing the business and assets that will be 7 reorganized in Chapter 11:

8 The nature of Debtor's businesses is and will be twofold, possibly threefold; namely,
9 (1) independent contractual sales of PPE equipment, (2) income/rental property 10 ownership and management, and (3) [possibly] reentry into the jewelry business (if economic, market, and legal conditions related to the COVID-19 pandemic improve to make this lucrative.

11 Id., p. 7:15-18.

12 The proposed Disclosure Statement discusses that the need to file arises from real estate 13 investments involving several identified persons. Debtor Herbert Miller then describes various 14 failures to set up business entities and an intention to acquire financially distressed real estate and 15 turn an eventual profit. Id., p. 7-8.

16 Debtor Herbert Miller discusses the legal and financial problems relating to his prior 17 financially distressed investments, and his decision not to continue with the persons he had 18 previously entered into business. Id., p. 8. Debtor Herbert Miller then explains that his former 19 business partners were involved in professional basketball and a well known religious organization.
20 Id., p. 9. Debtor Herbert Miller then proceeds to state that improper financial actions were taken 21 by his partners in the distressed real estate investment endeavor, but that there were not any

24 stay in lieu of an injunction and gain access to the federal court system to continue the years of prior and ongoing litigation in state and federal court.

25 <sup>7</sup> This statement may be true as of Debtor Herbert Miller's 2020 Case (assuming that his 26 many business entities have failed and are out of business), but not historically, as shown by the 27 at least 25 corporations, limited liability companies, and limited liability partnerships in which Debtor Herbert Miller has 50%, 80%, or in one, 100%, ownership interest. In the Disclosure 28 Statement Debtor Herbert Miller states that all of his entities are now "defunct" and have "no prospects for future productive business activity." Disc. Stmt., p. 17:23-26; Dckt. 186.

1 improper acts by Debtor Herbert Miller. Id.

2 Debtor Herbert Miller concludes the explanation of his pre-petition finances by stating that
3 his three real properties were deeded away from him by “wrongful foreclosures.” Id. But he now
4 will proceed with litigation to address such wrongful foreclosures through the bankruptcy court.<sup>8</sup>

5 Identification of Creditors and Claims

6 In the next section of the proposed Disclosure Statement, Debtor Herbert Miller identifies 7 the creditors that are going to be subject to the Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization. These are 8 identified as:

9 A. Class 1a Secured Claim - Collateral 305 Hilton Dr, Applegate, California. Id., 10 p. 11:20-28, 12:1-18.

- 11 1. Creditor with Secured Claim.....Unknown
- 12 2. Debtor Herbert Miller disputes that U.S. Bank, N.A. conducted a non-judicial 13 foreclosure sale in late 2017 - 2018; but title records reveal that a deed of 14 trust exists by which U.S. Bank, N.A. purports to have conducted a 15 nonjudicial foreclosure sale.
- 16 3. Debtor Herbert Miller asserts that the deed of trust is void.
- 17 4. The Class 1a “Unknown Creditor’s” claim will be paid through the plan over 18 a 360 month period with simple interest of 4.25%.

19 B. Class 1b Secured Claim - Collateral 11356 Alta Mesa East, Wilton, California. Id., 20 p. 12:19-28, 13:1-10.

- 21 1. Creditor with Secured Claim.....Unknown
- 22 2. Debtor Herbert Miller disputes that Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC conducted 23 a non-judicial foreclosure sale in late 2017 - 2018; but title records reveal that 24 a deed of trust exists by which Bayview Loan Servicing, LLC purports to 25 have conducted a nonjudicial foreclosure sale.
- 26 3. Debtor Herbert Miller asserts that the deed of trust is void.
- 27 4. The Class 1b “Unknown Creditor’s” claim will be paid through the plan over 28 a 360 month period with simple interest of 4.25%.

29 C. Class 2 Secured Claim - Collateral 11155 Shadow Court, Auburn, California. Id., 30 p. 13:11-28, 14:1-14.

31 <sup>8</sup> Not included in this pre-petition history is a summary of the multiple state and federal 32 court actions involving Debtor Herbert Miller (discussed infra) and these properties, or Debtor 33 Herbert Miller’s multiple prior bankruptcy cases.

- 1           1.     Creditor with Secured Claim.....Unknown
- 2           2.     Debtor Herbert Miller disputes that Wilmington Savings Fund, FSB, as
- 3                 Trustee, conducted a non-judicial foreclosure sale in late 2017 - 2018; but
- 4                 title records reveal that a deed of trust exists by which Bayview Loan

- 19                 disputes.
- 20                 b.     Payment of Claims.....Not Stated

20    G.     Class 4b General Nonpriority Unsecured Claims. Id., p. 16:3-23.

22           <sup>9</sup> The term "Assumed" for these claims refers to obligation owed to third parties by the 23           distressed real estate investment venture entities of Debtor Herbert Miller and his business

24           partners, but are not obligations for which Debtor Herbert Miller is personally liable.

25           At present, even though all of the agreements between the investors who provided funds

26           were with Debtor-controlled entities (not Debtor Herbert Miller in his individual capacity) and

27           none included any personal guarantee or "co-signing" by Debtor Herbert Miller, the proposed

7 Property of the Bankruptcy Estate

8           The Disclosure Statement continues, disclosing the assets of the bankruptcy estate. Id., p. 17-9 18. The assets as disclosed on Schedules A/B are stated to have a value of $1,494,540.00. However,
10 of this, $1,437,000.00 of value is for the real properties for which Debtor Herbert Miller asserts that 11 other persons are holding void deeds following nonjudicial foreclosures for which he intends to 12 proceed with further litigation and retake title.

13           The next most significant asset consists of $12,597.00 cash, all of which is claimed as 14 exempt.

15           Debtor Herbert Miller, a single individual, then lists a value of $39,993.00 for two vehicles.
16 These are the vehicles subject to the secured claims of $49,000.00, so there is no value for the estate 17 in these two vehicles.

18           For Debtor Herbert Miller’s 25+ corporations, limited liability company, and limited liability 19 partnerships now disclosed on Amended Schedule A/B, he confirms that they are all “defunct with 20 no prospects for future productive business activity.” Id., p. 17:23-25.

21           The only other assets rolling around in the bankruptcy estate are Debtor Herbert Miller's 22 household goods and personal effects, which he estimates a private party sale value of $4,950.00.

23 Litigation Over Alleged Void Foreclosures

24           Debtor Herbert Miller states that he has commenced, and will commence a third, adversary 25 proceedings asserting his claims that the alleged deeds from the nonjudicial foreclosures are void.
26 Id., pp. 18:15-28, 19:1-12.

27           Debtor Herbert Miller then discusses possible claims for violation of the automatic stay 28 arising in the current 2020 Case now before the court.

1 Summary of Plan of Reorganization

2 Debtor Herbert Miller provides a narrative summary of the Plan. He states that he intends 3 to continue his PPE sales and distributions, and rental income property business (which appears to 4 be for the properties which are the subject of the alleged void foreclosures), as well as reentering the 5 jewelry market. Id., p. 22:15-18.

6 For three of the Secured Claims held by “Unknown Creditors,” the unknown creditors will 7 be bound to their secured claims being reamortized over a 360-month period, with a simple 4.25% 8 interest, without being allowed to participate in the confirmation process because they are 9 “unknown.” Id., p. 22:27.

10 For the two creditors having claims secured by Debtor Herbert Miller’s vehicles, they will 11 be paid as provided in some future agreement that will be reached by Debtor Herbert Miller, but the 12 proposed Disclosure Statement does not state any actual payment terms for those claims. Id., 13 p. 22:25-27. A review of the Plan discloses that the actual plan treatment is to pay these significantly 14 undersecured claims more than the amount of the actual secured claim (based upon an 11 U.S.C.
15 § 506(a) valuation), but the full amount of the obligations pursuant to the terms of the pre-petition 16 contracts.<sup>10</sup>

17 For Debtor Herbert Miller’s priority tax claims, they are to be paid in full in less than five 18 years under the Plan. Id., p. 23:7-14.

19 For the General Unsecured Claims, the Disclosure Statement recommends the creditor review
20 the proposed Plan.

21 Review of the Proposed Chapter 11 Plan 22 General Unsecured Claim Treatment

23 In Article III, Paragraph 3.4a of the proposed Plan, Debtor Herbert Miller provides for the 24 payment as general unsecured contractual claims of the various corporations, limited liability
25 companies, and limited partnership owned by Debtor Herbert Miller. The Plan clearly states that 26 Debtor Herbert Miller is not contractually bound and is not liable, but that he is “voluntarily taking 27

28 <sup>10</sup> Plan, Article III, ¶ 3.3a Class 3a, and ¶3.3b Class 3, pp. 8-9; Dckt. 185.

1 on personal liability for these claims.” Plan, pp. 9:25-27, 10:-2; Dckt. 185 [emphasis added].

2 Thus, Debtor Herbert Miller makes it clear that the Class 4a Claim “creditors,” are not actual 3 creditors as defined in 11 U.S.C. § 101(10), but are created “creditors” for purposes of the proposed 4 Chapter 11 Plan in this case (“Created Creditors”). This creation of creditors is a novel concept.
5 One questions whether Debtor Herbert Miller and his counsel, can in good faith, manufacture
6 Created Creditors, outside those Congress defines as creditors who have rights and interests subject
7 to a bankruptcy plan, to divert monies to and away from creditors to whom Debtor Herbert Miller 8 is legally liable.

9 For these bankruptcy plan Created Creditors, Debtor Herbert Miller’s Plan promises them
10 a dividend equal to 80% of the net revenues, after payment of “total expenses of all types,” without 11 any limitation on such expenses taken by Debtor Herbert Miller, for sixty (60) monthly installments.
12 Id., p. 10:8-16. Debtor Herbert Miller’s Plan includes a projection that initially these net revenues
13 after any and all expenses of every type, will be $1,000.00 at the start of the Plan and increasing to 14 $4,250.00 in 2022. Id. Over a five-year period (assuming $1,000.00 a month for the first two years 15 and $4,250.00 a month for the next three years) it appears that Debtor Herbert Miller is advancing 16 a plan to divert $177,000.00 to these Created Creditors and away from the creditors to which he is 17 legally obligated.

18 Then for Class 4b Unsecured Claims, these being creditors who have actual unsecured claims
19 based on contract, statute, commonly law, judgment or otherwise for which Debtor Herbert Miller
20 is legally obligated for, there will be only a divided of 50%, with no interest. Id., p. 10:23-25.

21 Means for Implementing Plan

22 The Disclosure Statement continues, stating that Debtor Herbert Miller will continue his 23 present business operations to implement the Plan. Disc. Stmt., p. 27:22; Dckt. 186. Debtor Herbert 24 Miller has filed pro forma projections (the “Projection”) with the proposed Disclosure Statement,
25 which are in the form of a Request for Judicial Notice (Dckt. 188).<sup>11</sup>

26

27 <sup>11</sup> The documents attached to the Request for Judicial Notice are: 1. The Proposed Plan; 28 2. Proposed Ballot for Accepting or Rejecting; 3. Pro Forma Projections for 2020-2022; and
4. September 2020 Monthly Operating Report.

1           2021 Projection

2           For the 2021 Projection, the finances take off, and Debtor Herbert Miller projects
3 $171,000.00 in Commissions from Independent Sales and $16,500.00 in Social Security income.
4 Dckt. 188 at 29. There is no jewelry income, Debtor's son Cameron Miller testifying that the 5 business has been closed and the premises vacated. Affidavit, Dckt. 168.

6           To generate the $171,000.00 in Independent Sales Commission, the costs of the goods and 7 services relating thereto are projected to be only ($6,000.00). Dckt. 188 at 29. The other
8 Miscellaneous Business Expenses necessary to generate the $171,000.00 in Independent Sales
9 Commissions are projected to be only ($1,200.00), estimated at only ($100.00) a month. Id.

10           Thus, the expenses necessary to generate $171,000.00 in Independent Sales Commissions
11 are projected by Debtor Herbert Miller to be only ($7,200.00).

12           Debtor Herbert Miller's major expenses that he lists as an "Operating Expense" is 13 ($63,000.00) in "Adequate Protection Payments." Id. Again, these are "payments" not being made 14 to anyone, but moneys set aside in lieu of requiring Debtor Herbert Miller obtaining a preliminary 15 injunction as required by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65 and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy
16 Procedure 7065 in his litigation challenging the alleged to be void deeds from the foreclosure sale.

17           Debtor Herbert Miller does list projected deductions for paying creditors through the plan,
18 professional fees, and U.S. Trustee fees, but does not deduct these in computing possible income
19 taxes. For his total State and Federal income and self-employment taxes, on $107,514.00 in net
20 income (not deducting the Adequate Protection payments not being paid to anyone), Debtor Herbert 21 Miller projects only ($14,400.00) in combined taxes.

22           2022 Projections

23           For the 2022 Projections, Debtor Herbert Miller shows increased annual gross income
24 growing to $271,440.00, with the increase built on Debtor Herbert Miller counting on $54,940.00
25 in gross rental income from two of the properties for which he asserts that the foreclosure deeds are 26 void. Id. at 30.

27           Debtor Herbert Miller provides for paying $14,400.00 for income taxes. Id. The court does 28 not see a line item for Debtor Herbert Miller's self-employment taxes. Debtor Herbert Miller states

1 that the tax projections are based on IRS Schedule C net profit. Possibly he has huge losses from 2 his prior business ventures that have failed. If so, such does not create a sense of confidence that a 3 future business venture would be hugely successful.

4 NONBANKRUPTCY LITIGATION DEBTOR HERBERT MILLER
5 SEEKS TO BRING TO FEDERAL COURT
6 THROUGH THIS BANKRUPTCY CASE

7 There has been a significant amount of discussion in this case concerning Debtor Herbert
8 Miller's propensity to commence bankruptcy cases and other proceedings. As discussed above, 9 Debtor Herbert Miller purports to have been unaware of various bankruptcy cases filed for entities
10 in which he held a 50% or 80% interest in. Whether he knew they were being filed, his residence 11 is the address at which the courts, U.S. Trustees, and Bankruptcy Noticing Center mailed notices of 12 those cases, so it is unlikely that he was unaware that his various corporations or limited liability 13 companies were being placed in bankruptcy.

14 Debtor Herbert Miller has made it clear that he is here in bankruptcy today not to reorganize 15 any existing business, finances, or assets; but to continue in litigation in federal court through the 16 bankruptcy side door for his assertion that deeds from nonjudicial foreclosure sales in 2017 or 2018 17 are void.

18 Through various pleadings in this case and the related Adversary Proceedings, the existence 19 of various State and Federal Court litigation and outcomes have been brought to the attention of the 20 court.

21 Debtor Herbert Miller has argued that to the extent that for any of these State or Federal 22 actions that have been dismissed with prejudice or judgment entered against Debtor Herbert Miller 23 with respect to his assertions that the foreclosure deeds are void, the persons he seeks to litigate with 24 today cannot claim to be in privity with the persons who had the state court action dismissed with 25 prejudice. The court does not review these other judicial proceedings and outcomes for the merits
26 or how they would apply to persons that Debtor Herbert Miller seeks to litigate within 2020, but only 27 to put in context the professed need to reorganize in bankruptcy and the ability of Debtor Herbert 28 Miller to commence and engage in litigation.

In the Amended Statement of Financial Affairs, Debtor Herbert Miller identifies the

1 following actions as ones that he was involved in at the time this case was filed or during the one 2 year prior:

- 3 A. Hoffler v. Miller et al.; California Superior Court, County of Los Angeles, Action<sup>12</sup>

28 The prior litigation challenging the foreclosures filed by Debtor Herbert Miller and relating to the persons holding the deeds from the foreclosures include the following.

<sup>12</sup> The court uses the word “action” when identifying the non-bankruptcy litigation rather than “case” to avoid confusion between the various “bankruptcy cases” and the non-bankruptcy lawsuits.

5 CAUSE EXISTS TO DISMISS
DEBTOR HERBERT MILLER'S CHAPTER 11 CASE

6 In reviewing the file in this Chapter 11 case, the court had a fundamental question for 7 Counsel for Debtor Herbert Miller - what is going to be the confirmable Chapter 11 plan of 8 reorganization in this case? In response, counsel for Debtor Herbert Miller explained that Debtor
9 Herbert Miller's ability to generate revenue increased starting in August 2020, and that it would be 10 reflected in the Monthly Operating Report. Additionally, that the Chapter 11 Plan will include 11 blocked account adequate protection payments for the parties subject to the automatic stay being 12 used in the related adversary proceedings in lieu of Debtor Herbert Miller obtaining a preliminary 13 injunction pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65 and Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 14 7056 (and the bond required therefore).

15 An initial point to address is that the court does not reach its conclusions that cause exists
16 to dismiss this case because Debtor Herbert Miller is an individual who does not have a business that 17 he is reorganizing. As cited in the Opposition, the Supreme Court established that there is no per 18 se ineligibility for filing a Chapter 11 case by an individual who does not have a business.

19 As is clear from the court's discussion in the foregoing sections, the court has reservations
20 concerning Debtor Herbert Miller's filing of this case and the ability to prosecute it consistent with 21 the requirements for a Chapter 11 case, plan, and reorganization. Toibb v. Radloff, 501 U.S. 157, 22 158 (1991). There are a number of individuals with no businesses who over the years have filed 23 Chapter 11, reorganized their assets/investments, and increased the value of the property of the 24 bankruptcy estate through the reorganization. But there must be something to be reorganized and 25 made more valuable through the Chapter 11 case rather than through a Chapter 7 liquidation. Id., 26 163, 164. The court's focus is on whether it appears that Debtor Herbert Miller has something to 27 reorganize through Chapter 11.

28 With respect to "cause," as provided in 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b), Collier on Bankruptcy provides

1 a good summary of what is intended for a “reorganization” through Chapter 11. Collier begins by 2 noting that “it is useful to bear in mind the fundamental purposes and limitations of chapter 11 as 3 they relate to section 1112(b).” 7 Collier on Bankruptcy, ¶1112.04[5] (16th 2020).

4 [a] Salvaging Viable Business Enterprises and Maximizing the Creditors’ Return

5 As the Supreme Court has observed, chapter 11 embraces the “two recognized
6 policies [of] preserving going concerns and maximizing property available to satisfy
7 creditors.”<sup>13</sup> As the House Report states:

8 The purpose of a business reorganization case, unlike a liquidation 9 case, is to restructure a business’s finances so that it may continue to 10 operate, provide its employees with jobs, pay its creditors, and 11 produce a return for its stockholders. The premise of a business 12 reorganization is that assets that are used for production in the 13 industry for which they were designed are more valuable than those 14 same assets sold for scrap.

15 As a general rule, if continuing a particular chapter 11 case would promote the twin 16 goals of preserving viable businesses and maximizing the creditors’ return, then the 17 case is probably not a candidate for conversion or dismissal under section 1112(b).
18 On the other hand, chapter 11 is not a panacea for every debtor in distress.
19 Many troubled businesses are simply not viable and most debtors that enter 20 chapter 11 do not succeed in confirming a chapter 11 plan. . . ., and in some 21 instances, the debtor’s assets actually may be put to more valuable use in a different 22 application. In these circumstances, permitting the chapter 11 case to continue may 23 be counterproductive and conversion or dismissal may be warranted.

24 [b] Providing for Negotiated Accommodation

25 In evaluating the purposes of chapter 11 as they relate to section 1112(b), it is also 26 important to bear in mind that Congress designed the reorganization process to 27 provide a forum for the negotiated resolution of the debtor’s case in a manner that is 28 as accommodating as possible. On the other hand, not every case is capable of bearing the weight of this ideal. In reality, while the chapter 11 forum provides a medium for negotiation and an opportunity to better accommodate the interests of a broad range of constituents by potentially preserving the value of the debtor as a going concern, . . .

Recognizing the realities and limitations of chapter 11, one circuit court judge has remarked: “Reorganization is not a Holy Grail to be pursued at any length.”

(1999) (discussing the purposes of chapter 11).

1 Similarly, the Supreme Court has noted: “The preservation of business enterprises
2 must not be at the expense of creditors.” The Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit has further explained:

3 A principal goal of the reorganization provisions of the Bankruptcy
4 Code is to benefit the creditors of the Chapter 11 debtor by 5 preserving going-concern values and thereby enhancing the 6 amounts recovered by all creditors . . . . However, when there is no
7 reasonable likelihood that the statutory objective of 8 reorganization can be realized or when the debtor unreasonably 9 delays, then the automatic stay and other statutory provisions 10 designed to accomplish the reorganization objective become 11 destructive of the legitimate rights and interests of creditors, the intended beneficiaries. In that situation it is incumbent upon the 12 bankruptcy judge to effectuate the provisions of the Bankruptcy Code 13 for the protection of creditors lest the judge keep the Code’s word of 14 promise to the ear of creditors and break it to their hope. The 15 bankruptcy judge must meet head-on his obligation to decide, fairly 16 and impartially, the hard questions.<sup>14</sup>

17 Thus, although a request for relief under section 1112(b) may bring to the court a 18 variety of difficult choices that might otherwise be left to the negotiating table, this 19 is one of the section’s chief virtues. Specifically, it permits the court to evaluate 20 whether the process is worth the effort, or, conversely, whether the process 21 continues simply because the parties are forced to participate.

22 7 Collier on Bankruptcy, ¶ 1112.04 [5][a], [b] (16th 2020) [emphasis added].

23 As noted above, Debtor Herbert Miller takes exception to, and believes it was improper for, 24 the U.S. Trustee to cite the Ninth Circuit decision In re Leavitt, 171 F.3d 1219 (9th Cir. 1999), on 25 the issue of cause and good faith because it was in the context of the dismissal or conversion of a 26 Chapter 13 case, not a Chapter 11 case as now before the court.

27 Debtor Herbert Miller cites to the court the Ninth Circuit decision in In re Arnold, 806 F.2d 28 937, 939 (9th Cir. 1986), as providing the court with good starting points (and in Debtor Herbert Miller’s opinion the ending point) on the consideration of cause and good faith. The first thing that the court notes with respect to Arnold is that it is not a decision considering “cause” for purposes of either dismissal or conversion of a Chapter 11 case. Rather, it considered the issue of “cause” and 1 “good faith” in connection with granting relief from the automatic stay as provided in 11 U.S.C.

2 § 362(d)(1).

3 In discussing “cause” as it exists in the world of the automatic stay, the Ninth Circuit Court
4 of Appeals in Arnold directs:

5 The debtor's lack of good faith in filing a bankruptcy petition has often been used as 6 cause for removing the automatic stay. See, e.g., In re Kemble, 776 F.2d 802, 807
7 (9th Cir. 1985) (debtor's dilatory behavior a proper consideration in lifting stay);
8 Matter of Little Creek Development Co., 779 F.2d 1068, 1071 (5th Cir. 1986) (lack 9 of good faith constitutes "cause" for lifting stay).

10 The existence of good faith depends on an amalgam of factors and not 11 upon a specific fact. Matter of Little Creek Development Co., 779 F.2d at 1072. The 12 bankruptcy court should examine the debtor's financial status, motives, and the 13 local economic environment. Id. Said a Ninth Circuit bankruptcy panel:

14 If it is obvious that a debtor is attempting unreasonably to deter 15 and harass creditors in their bona fide efforts to realize upon their 16 securities, good faith does not exist. But if it is apparent that the 17 purpose is not to delay or defeat creditors but rather to put an end 18 to long delays, administration expenses . . . to mortgage foreclosures, 19 and to invoke the operation of the [bankruptcy law] in the spirit
20 indicated by Congress in the legislation, namely, to attempt to effect 21 a speedy efficient reorganization, on a feasible basis . . . good faith 22 cannot be denied.

23 In re Thirtieth Place, Inc., 30 Bankr. 503, 505 (Bankr. App. 9th Cir. 1983) (quoting 24 In re Loeb Apartments, Inc., 89 F.2d 461, 463 (7th Cir. 1937)).

25 In re Arnold, 806 F.2d 937, 938, (9th Cir. 1986).

26 Taking the lead from Debtor Herbert Miller to consider this discussion of good faith and 27 cause by the Ninth Circuit in connection with the automatic stay, it is clear that there must be a good 28 faith in filing to pursue a reorganization of a bankruptcy debtor’s assets or business. It is not to be for the purpose to delay or defeat the rights of others.

In Leavitt, the court considers the concept of “cause” directly in connection with whether a bankruptcy case should be dismissed in the context of a Chapter 13 case and the non-exclusive factors listed in 11 U.S.C. § 1307(c)(1) through (10). Consistent with the “amalgam of facts” to determine if someone is not acting in good faith in Arnold, the court in Leavitt states that in considering whether there is bad faith:

Bad faith, as cause for the dismissal of a Chapter 13 petition with prejudice, involves the application of the "totality of the circumstances" test. Eisen, 14 F.3d at 470. The 1 bankruptcy court should consider the following factors:

2 (1) whether the debtor "misrepresented facts in his [petition or] plan,
3 unfairly manipulated the Bankruptcy Code, or otherwise [filed]
4 his Chapter 13 [petition or] plan in an inequitable manner," id. (citing 5 In re Goeb, 675 F.2d 1386, 1391 (9th Cir. 1982));

6 (2) "the debtor's history of filings and dismissals," id. (citing In re
7 Nash, 765 F.2d 1410, 1415 (9th Cir. 1985));

8 (3) whether "the debtor only intended to defeat state court
9 litigation," id. (citing In re Chinichian, 784 F.2d 1440, 1445-46 (9th 10 Cir. 1986)); and

11 (4) whether egregious behavior is present, Tomlin, 105 F.3d at 937;
12 In re Bradley, 38 B.R. 425, 432 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1984).

13 A finding of bad faith does not require fraudulent intent by the 14 debtor.

15 Neither malice nor actual fraud is required to find a lack of good 16 faith. The bankruptcy judge is not required to have evidence of debtor
17 ill will directed at creditors, or that debtor was affirmatively 18 attempting to violate the law - malfeasance is not a prerequisite to 19 bad faith.

20 In re Powers, 135 B.R. 980, 994 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1991) (relying on In re Waldron, 21 785 F.2d 936, 941 (8th Cir. 1986)).

22 Leavitt v. Soto (In re Leavitt), 171 F.3d 1219, 1224-1225 (9th Cir. 1999) [emphasis added].

23 The court in Leavitt does not offer anything contrary to that in the Arnold decision offered 24 up by Debtor Herbert Miller, but complements and is consistent with Arnold.

25 This court begins with there being no business, no financial operation, no assets, and no
26 organization to restructure. Debtor Herbert Miller's prior business endeavors are, in his own words, 27 "defunct." Other than $12,000.00 of exempt cash, Debtor Herbert Miller has nothing but his 28 business mind, sense of financial endeavor, and a new business venture he wants to begin.

29 What Debtor Herbert Miller clearly shows, and argues to, the court is that there are no assets, 30 business, or finances in the bankruptcy estate to be reorganized. Rather, Debtor Herbert Miller is 31 holding going forth on new sole proprietorship business ventures, unencumbered by the prior 25+
32 corporations, limited liability companies, and limited liability partnerships, and the prior sole 33 proprietorship ventures that have failed. There are no assets of the estate identified that would be 34 "reorganized" into some new venture, just Debtor Herbert Miller himself to create something new.

1 In reality, what Debtor Herbert Miller presents to the court is that he wants to “organize” a 2 new, future sole proprietorship business that he is creating. The projections of income from the new 3 business(es) is not supported by the history of income generated by Debtor Herbert Miller as shown 4 in the 2013 Case, 2017 Case, 2018 Case, and 2019 Case.

5 As discussed above in Collier on Bankruptcy and the Supreme Court stated policies of 6 Chapter 11 to preserve going concern and maximizing property,<sup>15</sup> there is nothing to preserve in this 7 bankruptcy case. Debtor Herbert Miller has clearly stated that he is filing bankruptcy for something 8 new to be created, not reorganized (as well as using it to try and continue his litigation in federal 9 court through the bankruptcy side door). The court finds nothing persuasive or credible about how 10 or why Chapter 11 is the correct tool for Debtor Herbert Miller to create a new business. If he has 11 creditors and debt weighing him down from the failures of his 25+ prior defunct business ventures, 12 he can again file a Chapter 7 case, get his discharge, and have his fresh start.

13 Modification of Rights of Unknown Creditors

14 Next, Debtor Herbert Miller comes forward with a “plan” to have a Chapter 11 Plan that 15 modifies the rights and interests of Unknown Creditors and binds them to a 30-year amortization of 16 discounted loan amounts (discounting it to what Debtor Herbert Miller says is the value in the 17 vacuum of there being no creditor to counter) and a simple interest rate of 4.25%. Debtor Herbert
18 Miller offers no legal basis for how he can alter the rights of unidentified people who are purportedly
19 Unknown Creditors and comply with the minimum requirements of Due Process.

20 Debtor Herbert Miller also presents the court with another unsurmountable obstacle to 21 confirmation - the purported modification of a claim secured only by Debtor Herbert Miller’s 22 residence without the consent of the Unknown Creditor.

23 Class 3.2 Secured Claim has an “unknown creditor” with a claim secured by the 24 11155 Shadow Court, Auburn, California Property. Id. That property is Debtor Herbert Miller’s
25 residence. Petition, Question 6; Dckt. 1; Amended Petition, Question 5; Dckt. 37. The treatment
26 of this claim is to modify the terms of the loan, have the court determine the amount of the claim, 27

1 and then repay it over 30 years at 4.25%. Absent the consent of the “unknown creditor,” such 2 modification is not possible under the Bankruptcy Code and such a plan term could not be confirmed 3 absent such consent. 11 U.S.C. § 1123(b)(5).

4 Created Creditors

5 Another act by Debtor Herbert Miller in the proposed Chapter 11 Plan that raises the 6 crescendo from not good faith to bad faith is his election to “voluntarily assume” through the Plan
7 $2,500,000.00 on unsecured claims of Created Creditors that he has no legal obligation to pay. He 8 is clear in stating that he has no legal obligation and these are obligations existing between those 9 Created Creditors and others, including some of his 25+ entities that are now defunct.<sup>16</sup>

10 While someone outside of bankruptcy can elect to give away his or her money or assets (so 11 long as they pay their creditors), a debtor in a Chapter 11 plan cannot give away assets to persons 12 he has no legal obligation to pay, and then leave his actual creditors, to whom he has legal 13 obligations, left unpaid.

14 While under the proposed plan Debtor Herbert Miller seeks to give away money to the 15 assumed $2,500,000.00 in unsecured claims of the Created Creditors, he provides for his Class 4b
16 general unsecured claims, for which he is legally obligated to pay those creditors, only a 50%
17 dividend and no interest. This “largess” to give away money to people to whom he has no legal 18 obligation and to under pay less than half (taking into account no interest) of what he actually is 19 legally obligated to pay begins moving the needle past mere lack of good faith and into bad faith.

20 From what Debtor Herbert Miller presents, it appears that he is attempting to manufacture 21 a plan built upon straw men and women – the Unknown Creditors, who cannot vote or oppose the 22 modifications to their legal rights and interests as set forth in the Plan. Then, Debtor Herbert Miller

24 <sup>16</sup> The conduct of a person who owes debts and is unable to pay his creditors in full 25 choosing to give away his assets to others to whom such person has no legal obligation to pay is 26 an anathema under both state and federal law. Cal. Civ. §§ 3439 et seq., Cal. Penal § 154, 11
27 U.S.C. § 548. In the bankruptcy context, not only are such transfers avoided and recovered for 28 the benefit of the bankruptcy estate, but when recovered the full amount of the transfers are preserved for the benefit of creditors and a debtor cannot even claim an otherwise valid exemption in the transferred property. 11 U.S.C. § 551, § 522(g); Glass v. Hitt (In re Glass), 60
F.3d 565, 569-570 (9th Cir. 1995).

1 wants to “give” money away to Created Creditors to whom he has no legal obligation and pay less
2 than what he owes to creditors he acknowledges he has a legal obligation to pay. That is not a 3 Chapter 11 plan or reorganization in good faith as permitted under the Bankruptcy Code. In 4 substance, it is a “reorganization” built on ephemeral fraudulent transfers to Created Creditors and 5 modification of the rights and interests of the Unknown Creditors in absentia and without affording 6 them their Due Process rights.

7 Debtor Herbert Miller is an active, experienced litigator. He may not be successful, but he 8 litigates. He litigates in state court; he litigates in federal court. He litigates in California; he 9 litigates in Arizona; he litigates in Florida.

10 Rather than a “reorganization” purpose, Debtor Herbert Miller is instead demonstrating a 11 “court shopping” effort and is seeking to obtain an injunction free of complying with the 12 requirements of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65 or the state law equivalent. It appears that 13 Debtor Herbert Miller having tried to, and failed, in litigating through the front doors of the state 14 court and the district court, is attempting now to litigate in Federal Court through the side door of 15 the Bankruptcy Court.

16 At an earlier hearing in this case, the court “helpfully” discussed with the Parties a situation 17 where there was a debtor-creditor dispute concerning a mortgage payment or a foreclosure, and the 18 debtor was using the automatic stay to maintain the status quo while the dispute was either resolved
19 consensually or adjudicated. These have been situations where this court has allowed a blocked 20 account to be set up and the bankruptcy debtor to self-fund a bond, using the automatic stay in lieu 21 of having to obtain a preliminary injunction in the related federal or state court lawsuit. Such has 22 been in a case where there is an identified loan and the loan payment is made into the account as an 23 adequate protection payment. 11 U.S.C. § 361. If there is a disagreement as to whether that is 24 reasonable, the court has used the value of the property (generally an amount not in dispute between 25 the bankruptcy debtor and creditor), created a 30-year amortization using an interest rate based on 26 a 100% loan to equity ratio, and had that amount set aside. When the court has done that, either the 27 bankruptcy debtor walks away, not wanting to “fund the bond” (manifesting an intent to litigate only 28 for purposes of delaying the foreclosing creditor or purchaser at the foreclosure sale, and not having

1 a bona fide claim to assert) or an agreement is quickly reached between the creditor and debtor (the 2 creditor realizing that there is a debtor who can, is, and will pay on the obligation).

3 Here, Debtor Herbert Miller has proposed using such adequate protection payments. A 4 review of both Motions for Adequate Protection (Dckts. 156, 161) show that Debtor Herbert Miller's 5 payments are not based on actual fair market value of the property but as explained in the Reply to 6 the Motion for Adequate Protection (Dckt. 183; at 2:25-27) computed based on what he thinks the 7 secured claim would be, and there can be no dispute because the creditors are "unknown." These 8 are on debts he has not paid for years, for which there appears to have been a decade of litigation,
9 and for which the disputed foreclosure sales occurred two to three years prior to the commencement
10 of Debtor Herbert Miller's 2020 Case.

11 In considering the extensive litigation experience of Debtor Herbert Miller and the continuing 12 battles, the court is convinced that there can be no "bankruptcy adequate protection" fund in this 13 situation where Debtor Herbert Miller adamantly states that the foreclosure deeds are void and the 14 persons whose rights he is attacking have no interest in the property and no right to be paid.

15 In the context of Debtor Herbert Miller's litigation over the foreclosures, this court is further 16 convinced that the Supreme Court has set the proper rules for whether a person's asserted rights in 17 real property should be enjoined in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65 and Federal Rule of 18 Bankruptcy Procedure 7065. The automatic stay provisions of 11 U.S.C. § 362(a) created by 19 Congress are to moderate the debtor-creditor relationship and protect property of the bankruptcy 20 estate from further creditor action. The automatic stay is not a "for free" litigation injunction to 21 override Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65 under these circumstances.

22 Debtor Herbert Miller has, can, and likely will continue to press his rights in the California
23 Superior Court and the Eastern District of California District Court. However, doing so has nothing
24 to do with any reorganization under Chapter 11. Debtor Herbert Miller has nothing to reorganize.
25 He is only looking to create new businesses based on his financial acumen and future sweat equity.
26 Chapter 11 is not a statutory scheme to "reorganize" future businesses.

27 The court concludes that the use of 28 U.S.C. § 1334 for purposes of the non-bankruptcy
28 litigation under the circumstances as Debtor Herbert Miller presents is an abuse of the federal

1 jurisdiction granted thereunder. The creation of federal court jurisdiction (based on the U.S.
2 Constitution Article I, § 8, Clause 4 granting Congress the power to create a uniform national law)
3 for cases arising under the Bankruptcy Code, arising in the bankruptcy case, and related to the 4 bankruptcy case, is the exception to the normal limited federal jurisdiction found in Article III of the 5 U.S. Constitution.

6 Non-bankruptcy, non-federal law issues flood the bankruptcy courts because they arise in the 7 bankruptcy case (such as claim objections) or relate to the bankruptcy case (determination of zoning
8 ordinances, property rights, and the like). Such is a necessary and proper exercise of federal 9 jurisdiction granted by Congress to make the Bankruptcy Code work for debtors and creditors.
10 However, it is not a device or artifice to circumvent the U.S. Constitution and slip non-bankruptcy 11 related matters into federal court.

12 For Debtor Herbert Miller, there is no bankruptcy reorganization to take place, but only the 13 litigation of the non-bankruptcy issues he desires to pursue over the alleged void foreclosure deeds.

14 Further, Congress provides in 28 U.S.C. § 1334 that the federal court may abstain from 15 exercising federal court jurisdiction from hearing a particular proceeding arising under title 11 (the 16 Bankruptcy Code) or arising in or related to a case under title 11. 28 U.S.C. § 1334(c)(1). The 17 adversary proceedings in which Debtor Herbert Miller seeks to have the foreclosure deeds 18 determined void and assert other affirmative rights against the various defendants appear to be tailor 19 made for the federal bankruptcy court judge (who is a judicial officer of the district court, 28 U.S.C.
20 § 151) to abstain and allow Debtor Herbert Miller to take his fight to the California Superior Court
21 or to the United States District Court, if some federal jurisdictional basis exists other than through 22 the 28 U.S.C. § 1334 side door.<sup>17</sup>

23 Conversion or Dismissal of Case

24 As 11 U.S.C. § 1112(b)(1) provides, upon determining that cause exists, the court shall 25 either dismiss or convert the case, “whichever is in the best interests of the creditors and the estate.”
26 In the Motion, the U.S. Trustee requests that the case be dismissed. The Motion and Points and

---

27
28 <sup>17</sup> Congress provided in 28 U.S.C. § 1334(d) that a decision to abstain under § 1334(c)(1) is not reviewable by appeal or otherwise.

1 Authorities do not flesh out the basis for dismissal rather than conversion. No supporting pleadings
2 have been filed by any other parties in interest.

3 The considerations taken into account in determining whether conversion or dismissal is in 4 the best interests of the creditors and bankruptcy estate is discussed in Collier on Bankruptcy:

5 If the parties disagree on conversion, dismissal or appointment of trustee or 6 examiner, the court should evaluate and choose the alternative that would be most 7 advantageous to the parties and the estate as a whole. In doing so, the court may 8 consider such factors as

9 (1) whether some creditors received preferential payments, and whether 10 equality of distribution would be better served by conversion rather than 11 dismissal,

12 (2) whether there would be a loss of rights granted in the case if it were 13 dismissed rather than converted,

14 (3) whether the debtor would simply file a further case upon dismissal,

15 (4) the ability of the trustee in a chapter 7 case to reach assets for the benefit 16 of creditors,

17 (5) in assessing the interest of the estate, whether conversion or dismissal of 18 the estate would maximize the estate's value as an economic enterprise,

19 (6) whether any remaining issues would be better resolved outside the 20 bankruptcy forum,

21 (7) whether the estate consists of a "single asset,"

22 (8) whether the debtor had engaged in misconduct and whether creditors are 23 in need of a chapter 7 case to protect their interests,

24 (9) whether a plan has been confirmed and whether any property remains in 25 the estate to be administered and 26 (10) whether the appointment of a trustee is desirable to supervise the estate 27 and address possible environmental and safety concerns.

28 In addition, the court should make its decision with due regard to the effect of dismissal under section 349.

7 Collier on Bankruptcy P 1112.04 (16th 2020), with the court restructuring the form of the paragraph to list the ten items therein separately for ease of reading.

The court concludes that dismissal is in the best interests of the bankruptcy estate and creditors in that there appears to be no assets to be administered by a Chapter 7 trustee. There are no free assets (such as cash or property to be sold to generate cash) to fund the administration of the 1 bankruptcy estate. Debtor Herbert Miller has three, what appear to be, highly contested lawsuits

2 challenging the validity of three foreclosure deeds. Debtor Herbert Miller appears to have been 3 actively attempting to litigate those issues in state court, and federal court when removed thereto.
4 While a Chapter 7 trustee could litigate, settle, or abandon such claims and property, he or she would 5 not only be starting without assets for such litigation, but encumbered by the rulings and orders in 6 various prior actions prosecuted by Debtor Herbert Miller.

7 On Amended Schedule A/B, Debtor Herbert Miller does list other claims against third parties
8 he states existed as of the commencement of the 2020 Case. Dckt. 79 at 21. These are identified 9 as additional wrongful foreclosure cases relating to properties in Scottsdale, Arizona (2 such claims),
10 and one in Cave Creek, Arizona. Again, a Chapter 7 trustee would begin “asset naked” to consider 11 these multiple, multi-state listed claims to try and acquire some tangible assets.

12 The court concludes that dismissal, rather than conversion, is in the best interest of the 13 bankruptcy estate and creditors. With the dismissal, Debtor Herbert Miller is freed to not only 14 pursue his new business ventures, but also whatever litigation he believes proper concerning his 15 allegations of void foreclosure deeds and other claims, rather than all of those claims, rights, and 16 interests being under the sole control of a Chapter 7 trustee. 11 U.S.C. § 704. Creditors will then 17 have Debtor Herbert Miller generating projected substantial income from his new business 18 venture(s), which would appear to have the potential (as projected) to generate monies to 19 substantially pay his creditors to whom he is legally obligated.

20 The Motion is granted and the Chapter 11 case is dismissed.

22 IMPOSITION OF BAR ON FILING
ANOTHER BANKRUPTCY CASE

23 The U.S. Trustee also requests that the court impose a one-year bar on Debtor Herbert Miller 24 filing another bankruptcy case. One basis for such a bar is stated in 11 U.S.C. § 349(a), which 25 provides (emphasis added):

26 § 349. Effect of dismissal

27 (a) Unless the court, for cause, orders otherwise, the dismissal of a case under this 28 title does not bar the discharge, in a later case under this title, of debts that were dischargeable in the case dismissed; nor does the dismissal of a case under this title

1           prejudice the debtor with regard to the filing of a subsequent petition under this
2           title, except as provided in section 109(g) of this title.<sup>18</sup>

3           The court cannot identify an "order" of this court that has not been complied with for purposes of 4           imposing an 11 U.S.C. § 109(g) 180-day bar on filing a new case by Debtor Herbert Miller.

5           This court has previously addressed the issue of imposing a bar on a debtor filing further
6           cases for a specified period of time. The bankruptcy courts are established by an act of Congress and 7           the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a), and 11 U.S.C. §105 provide the bankruptcy courts with the 8           inherent power to enter pre-filing orders against vexatious litigants. Molski v. Evergreen Dynasty
9           Corp, et al, 500 F.3d 1047 (9th Cir. 2007); Gooding v Reid, Murdock & Co., 177 F 684, (7th Cir
10           1910), Weissman v. Quail Lodge Inc., 179 F.3d 1194, 1197 (9th Cir. 1999), and In re Bialac, 15 B.R.
11           901, 9th Cir. B.A.P. 1981), affd 694 F.2d 625 (9th Cir. 1982). A court must be able to regulate and 12           provide for the proper filing and prosecuting of proceedings before it. 11 U.S.C. §105(a) expressly 13           grants the court the power to issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate
14           to carry out the provisions of this title. Further, the court is authorized to sua sponte (in the case now
15           before the court the U.S. Trustee has in this Motion requested the relief in the form of a bar on filing 16           another bankruptcy case) take any action or make any determination necessary or appropriate to 17           enforce or implement court orders or rules, or to prevent an abuse of process. This power exists, and 18           it does not matter whether it is being exercised pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §105 or the inherent power of 19           the court. In re Volpert, 110 F.3d 494, 500 (7th Cir. 2007); and Peugeot v. U.S. Trustee (In re 20           Crayton), 192 B.R. 970, 976 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 1996).

21           The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals re-stated the grounds and methodology for pre-filing 22

23           <sup>18</sup> 11 U.S.C. § 109(g)(1) provides in pertinent part:

24           (g) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, no individual or family
25           farmer may be a debtor under this title who has been a debtor in a case pending 26           under this title at any time in the preceding 180 days if—

27           (1) the case was dismissed by the court for willful failure of the debtor to abide by 28           orders of the court, or to appear before the court in proper prosecution of the case;

.....

1 review requirements as an appropriate method for the federal courts in effectively managing serial
2 filers or vexatious litigants. Molski v. Evergreen Dynasty Corp, et al, 500 F.3d 1047 (9th Cir. 2007),
3 en banc hearing denied, 521 F.3d 1215 (9th Cir. 2008); and In re Fillbach, 223 F.3d 1089 (9th Cir.
4 2000). While maintaining the free and open access to the courts, it is also necessary to have that 5 access be properly utilized and not abused. The abusive filing of bankruptcy petitions, motions, and 6 adversary proceedings for purposes other than as allowed by law diminishes the quality of and 7 respect for the judicial system and laws of this country.

8 As addressed by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in Molski, the ordering of a pre-filing
9 review requirement is not to be entered with undue haste because such orders can tread on a litigant's
10 due process right of access to the courts. As discussed in Logan v. Zimmerman Brush Co., 455 U.S.
11 422, 429, 102 S. Ct. 1148, 71 L. Ed. 2d 265 (1982), the right to seek redress from the court is a 12 protected right of civil litigants. The issuing of a pre-filing order is to be made only after a cautious 13 review of the pertinent circumstances.

14 However, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals clearly draws the line that a person's right to 15 present claims and assert rights before the federal courts is not a license to abuse the judicial process 16 and treat the courts merely as a tool to abuse others.

17 Nevertheless, "[f]lagrant abuse of the judicial process cannot be tolerated because it 18 enables one person to preempt the use of judicial time that properly could be used to 19 consider the meritorious claims of other litigants." De Long, 912 F.2d at 1148; see O'Loughlin v. Doe, 920 F.2d 614, 618 (9th Cir. 1990).

20 Molski, 500 F.3d at 1057. In the Ninth Circuit the trial courts apply a four factor analysis in 21 determining if and what type of pre-filing or other order should properly be issued based on the 22 conduct of the party at issue.

- 23 1. First, the litigant must be given notice and a chance to be heard before the 24 order is entered.
- 25 2. Second, the district court must compile "an adequate record for review."
- 26 3. Third, the district court must make substantive findings about the frivolous 27 or harassing nature of the plaintiff's litigation.
- 28 4. Finally, the vexatious litigant order "must be narrowly tailored to closely fit the specific vice encountered."

2 Here, the U.S. Trustee asserts that Debtor Herbert Miller has “acted egregiously and in bad
3 faith.” Points & Authorities, p. 20:19-20; Dckt. 112. With respect to Debtor Herbert Miller’s filing
4 and prosecution of bankruptcy cases, the grounds stated by the U.S. Trustee include:

- 5
- 6 A. This is Debtor Herbert Miller’s fourth “reorganization” case, with there not being a 7 confirmed plan in the prior three cases, all of which have been dismissed. Id., ¶¶ 19, 8 61.
- 9 B. Debtor Herbert Miller has demonstrated that bankruptcy is a “mere tool” to be used 10 in negotiations with mortgage holders. Id.
- 11 C. The valuable assets listed on the Schedules are the three properties for which Debtor 12 Herbert Miller asserts the foreclosure deeds are void and seeks to continue in such 13 litigation. Id., ¶¶ 27, 62.
- 14 D. Debtor Herbert Miller’s Schedules were grossly inaccurate (not disclosing his various 15 corporations, limited liability companies, and limited partnership interests). Id., ¶ 2.
16 (Amended Schedules and Statement of Financial Affairs were filed in this case.)
- 17 E. Debtor Herbert Miller’s Schedule J budget did not state realistic expenses, and did 18 not include amounts for rent, mortgage payments, property taxes, or insurance for the 19 real property he asserts he owns. Id., ¶ 15-17.
- 20 F. The present case has been filed in bad faith. Factors asserted by the U.S. Trustee 21 include: (1) inaccurate schedules, (2) this is Debtor Herbert Miller’s fourth
22 “reorganization” case since 2013, with the prior three dismissed; and (3) Debtor
23 Herbert Miller uses the filing of bankruptcy to “negotiate” and not to reorganize. Id., 24 ¶¶ 55-56, 57, 61.

25 Debtor Herbert Miller opposes this request, stating that “the UST has articulated a very 26 distorted narrative of the action facts, and in at least one instance has made an outright false
27 allegation of a ‘misrepresentation’ by Debtor [Herbert Miller]. . . .” Opposition, p. 5:21-22;
28 Dckt. 126. Debtor Herbert Miller states that he is not a “serial filer,” and the present case is merely “an extension” of the two prior dismissed cases.

29 With respect to the bankruptcy cases for various entities in which Debtor Herbert Miller has 30 an interest, it is explained that they were being filed by “loose cannons” without Debtor Herbert 31 Miller’s knowledge.

32 In considering this issue, the court has the benefit of not only thoroughly reviewing what 33 Debtor Herbert Miller says he wants to do, but see the actual “Plan” of what he intends to do. The 34 court has, as addressed above, put that in the framework of Chapter 11 and the Bankruptcy Code.

1           At this juncture, the court notes that Debtor Herbert Miller's attorney explained to the court
2 at the final oral argument that the Chapter 11 Plan filed was not the "final version," and such plans
3 are always subject to amendment or modification to get to the "real plan terms." The court agrees
4 that the first Chapter 11 plan filed is not usually the first and final version (unless it is a "Pre-
5 Packaged" Chapter 11 where the creditors and to-be debtor have written and "voted" on the plan in 6 advance).

7           However, even the first version of the Chapter 11 plan filed needs to be consistent with the 8 law and provide colorable, confirmable (even if it is not anticipated that creditors will vote for it)
9 terms. As the court addressed above, what Debtor Herbert Miller presented to the court was a "plan"
10 by which Unknown Creditors would have their rights modified without notice or hearing. Further,
11 that such Unknown Creditor with the lien on Debtor Henry Miller's residence would have its rights
12 modified notwithstanding the Bankruptcy Code prohibiting such modification, even if the creditor 13 had notice and was a party to the bankruptcy case, without that creditor's consent.

14           Then, Debtor Herbert Miller seeks to "assume" almost $3,000,000.00 of debt, for which he 15 affirmatively states he has no personal liability. Then, having "assumed" millions of dollars of this 16 no personal liability debt for the Created Creditors, Debtor Herbert Miller seeks to divert post-
17 petition plan payments to those Created Creditors. In diverting the money to the Created Creditors, 18 he will then not pay in full his actual creditors, to which he is legally obligated to pay their claims.
19 There is no basis for floating a Created Creditor plan in good faith.

20           Further, there is nothing in the bankruptcy estate to reorganize. All of Debtor Herbert 21 Miller's prior business ventures are, in his words, defunct. He is launching out on new business 22 ventures, but they are not based on any existing businesses or assets to be reorganized.

23           What Debtor Herbert Miller has demonstrated is that the filing of this bankruptcy case was 24 a mere canard to invoke federal court jurisdiction pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1334, slip in the side door
25 to federal court, and then use the automatic stay instead of properly seeking a preliminary injunction
26 to assert his contentions that the foreclosure deeds are void. While using federal court jurisdiction 27 arising pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1334 is proper when the matter is related to a bankruptcy case, the 28 bankruptcy case cannot exist solely to justify the side door access to federal court. There is no

1 reorganization to take place in the Chapter 11 case.

2           The court is legitimately concerned that if this case is just dismissed, with no buffer, Debtor
3 Herbert Miller will just yo-yo back into another bankruptcy case to try and avoid having to prosecute
4 his claims relating to the alleged void foreclosure deeds in state court or district court (if a grounds
5 for federal court jurisdiction exists). Such thoughtless filing of bankruptcy cases as a device to 6 forum shop wastes a debtor's valuable rights under the Bankruptcy Code.

7           The court has weighed the options, ranging from just dismissing the current case, as it has 8 done for the three prior cases, to imposing the one-year (or greater) bar on Debtor Herbert Miller
9 filing a bankruptcy case as requested by the U.S. Trustee. Clearly, some limits need to be placed on 10 Debtor Herbert Miller to prevent the abuse and attempted abuse of the bankruptcy court, federal 11 court jurisdiction, bankruptcy laws, state court judgments, and third-parties.

12           The court will not bar Debtor Herbert Miller from ever filing another bankruptcy case, but 13 will impose the much more moderate requirement that he first obtain the pre-filing authorization 14 from the chief judge in the bankruptcy district before commencing another bankruptcy case during 15 the one hundred and eighty (180) day period following the dismissal of this case. The court selects 16 a one hundred and eighty (180) day period after considering the filings, what has been presented in 17 this case, and the "plan" with Created Creditors, Unknown Creditors whose rights are purported to 18 be modified, and no reorganization of anything in the bankruptcy estate.

19           A pre-filing review requirement is of little impact to a debtor seeking legitimate relief from 20 the bankruptcy court. In this case, it will require the debtor to have the initial bankruptcy pleadings
21 completed and on their face appear to be consistent with the requirements of the Bankruptcy Code 22 and Chapter under which Debtor Herbert Miller seeks to file bankruptcy. Such should be simple in 23 light of the Amended Schedules and Statement of Financial affairs in the current fourth bankruptcy
24 "reorganization." It imposes no significant cost or delay, in that the petition, schedules, and other 25 basic pleadings need to be prepared at the time of filing.

26           It is likely that Debtor Herbert Miller can have his plan drafted (if he desires to file a 27 Chapter 11 case) and it can be presented as an exhibit in support of the motion for authorization to 28 file the bankruptcy case during the one hundred eighty (180) day period. If a draft of the plan is not

1 available, Debtor Herbert Miller can provide a detailed summary of the plan terms. In addition, an 2 explanation as to what actions will be taken to identify the creditors on these obligations that have 3 been the subject of long standing, ongoing disputes.

4 If filed in this District, the Application for Authorization to file a bankruptcy case within one
5 hundred and eighty (180) day bar period shall be filed in this 2020 Case, with no reopening fee
6 required to be paid. It shall be reviewed and ruled on by the current judge in the 2020 Case, who is 7 continuing to serve as the Chief Bankruptcy Judge in this District during the one hundred eighty 8 (180) day pre-filing review bar period.

9 The court shall enter a separate order dismissing this case and imposing the one hundred 10 eighty (180) day bar on filing another bankruptcy case and the pre-filing review requirement during 11 that period.

18 1. In his Declaration, Debtor Herbert Miller testifies that with respect to the Hillside Holdings, 19 Inc. bankruptcy case, “he may have” (apparently filed it). Declaration, ¶6, p. 2:25; Dckt. 127.
20 He states that as he recalls, the Hillside Holdings, Inc. bankruptcy case would have been filed to reorganize a condominium project in Las Vegas Nevada. Id. He believes that the case filed in California would have been quickly dismissed and the case refiled in Nevada. Id.

21 A review of this court’s files, the only bankruptcy case filed for Hillside Holdings, Inc.
22 (or any entity with the words “Hillside Holdings” in its name) is Case No. 18-20298 above. A 23 search using PACER of the files for the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Nevada reveals that there is no bankruptcy case of record for an entity with the words “Hillside Holdings” in its name. https://ecf.nvb.uscourts.gov/cgi-bin/iquery.pl?104066502821794-L\_1\_0-1.

24 The California Secretary of State maintains a website at which persons can inquire about 25 entities registered to do business in California. A search of that website for a corporation with 26 the words “Hillside Holdings” in its name yields the information about: Hillside Holdings, Inc., 27 registered as a corporation in 2004, whose address is 7119 W Sunset Blvd #192, Los Angeles, California. <https://businesssearch.sos.ca.gov/CBS/Detail>.

28 Reviewing the information available on the Secretary of State website and the Corporate

1 Statements of Information available thereon does not include any information relating to a 2 “Hillside Holdings, Inc.” with an address at 11155 Shadow Court, Auburn, California.

3 This information from the Secretary of State’s website is not evidence presented in 4 connection with the motion and not considered by the court in its ruling. However, it is 5 information that is relevant in connection with the filing of the Hillside Holdings, Inc.
6 bankruptcy case in this court. If someone were filing a bankruptcy case for a non-existent
7 corporation, they might also be falsely appearing in court identifying themselves as “Herb 8 Miller.”

9 The person identifying himself as “Herb Miller” on the recording for the dismissal 10 hearing in the Hillside Holdings, Inc. case filed in this court stated that the attorneys hired to 11 represent the corporate debtor was “Parker Stanbury” firm here in town. To the extent that 12 somebody was misrepresenting himself to be “Herb Miller,” it is likely that the attorneys at 13 Parker Stanbury could assist the U.S. Trustee in identifying such person.

14 It causes the court concern that what appears to be a non-existent entity may have been 15 the “debtor” in the Hillside Holdings, Inc. case filed in this court. The court refers this 16 information to the U.S. Trustee for such further review, investigation, and action as the U.S.
17 Trustee or others at the Department of Justice deem appropriate. The court makes no referral for 18 any specific action, but leaves such action, if any, as determined to be warranted to the U.S.
19 Trustee and Department of Justice.
